Daniel Candeias recently concluded his sporting career and was honored by Promosport in recognition of the 12-year relationship between the two parties.

The winger, who made his mark at various clubs in Portugal and abroad, did not let the occasion pass without comment, expressing his gratitude in a message.

"I want to thank Promosport for these 12 years of professionalism, dedication, and partnership. It was an incredible journey that we undertook hand-in-hand, built on trust, respect, and a very close bond. Throughout these years, it was a true honor to be represented by a team that was always present, available, and committed at every stage of my career," he began.

He then highlighted that the connection between the two parties went beyond the professional realm: "We built a partnership based on values, loyalty, and—above all—friendship, which I will cherish forever with immense gratitude."

Candeias then offered a special word of thanks to Antonio Teixeira, Promosport's CEO: "A very special thank you for everything we experienced together and for the trust shown over the years. It was a privilege to have you by my side on this journey."
